Public Hearing On Daylight Saving Time

Farmers Tell How It Vitrally Affects Them and Their Production—Some City Workers Think Changing Clock Instead of Personal Habits Give Them Extra Hour of Daylight for Recreation—Public Hearing Before Common Council April 13

After listening to the reasons advanced by Assemblyman Millard Davis, president of the Ulster County Farm Bureau; Judge Barnes of New Paltz and other members of the Farm Bureau as to why the rural districts were asking Kingston to repeal the present Daylight Saving ordinance, the common council Tuesday evening by a vote of 8 to 4 adopted the resolution offered by Alderman Moore of the Third ward that a public hearing be held Tuesday evening, April 13, at 8 o'clock at the city hall for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the merchants and residents of the city in the matter. Assemblyman Davis in reply to questions by the aldermen stated that the Farm Bureau would undoubtedly be represented at the hearing to outline why, in their opinion, the present Daylight Saving ordinance should be rescinded.

All of the aldermen were present at the meeting with the exception of Alderman Flannery of the Thirteenth ward, who was excused from attending.

Where Trade Comes From. Assemblyman Millard Davis, who is also president of the Farm Bureau, was given the privilege of the floor and spoke briefly. He said that the delegation from the Farm Bureau were present in spirit of cooperation. "We are not here to tell the people of Kingston how to run their time," he said, and then explained the reasons why the rural districts were opposed to the Daylight Saving ordinance. He said he believed the city was interested in what is going on in the county outside the city. Only the other day he had learned that sixty per cent of Kingston's trade came from the rural districts. This fact was ascertained by a survey made by the Chamber of Commerce.

Farmling Not Over Prosperous, Anyway. "Conditions in the farming game have not been any too prosperous in the past five years," said Assemblyman Davis, "and you will find abandoned farms within ten miles of Kingston." He said that if Kingston had Daylight Saving this summer the rural districts would have to comply with it for they sold their produce in Kingston and send their children to school here.

Time did not mean anything to the farmer. If a farmer got up an hour earlier in the morning it simply meant that he would work that much longer during the day. The farmer's work was not controlled by the clock. He said that there were four reasons why the rural districts were opposed to Daylight Saving.

How Daylight Saving Works. In the first place, if the city wanted to save an hour of daylight they could do so without fooling themselves by twisting the hands of the clocks. By advancing the hands of the clock ahead an hour we admit we haven't the gumption to get up an hour earlier. Let us stick to standard time. Let us make an agreement with our employers to go to work an hour earlier and quit an hour earlier in the afternoon.

In the second place, Daylight Saving meant a confusion of time all over the state. Some places had it and some did not. He said he did not believe there were five men in Kingston who could tell him what ferry he would have to take in order to catch a train on the New York Central until they had studied the three tables for twenty minutes.

In the third place, Daylight Saving was injurious to the children of the rural districts who attend high school. "You can't get them to bed before dark, and the growing generation need that extra hour of sleep."

In the fourth place, Daylight Saving keeps trade away from the city as the farmer found it impossible to show his work an hour earlier in the afternoon and get in town before the stores closed.

Reason For Mail Order Business. "We who live in the country like to come to Kingston and shop and attend the movies, but we can't do it under Daylight Saving time unless we let our work go. What happens? Why, we have to let the womenfolk run out the old Sears & Roebuck catalogue and place an order."

In closing he said that he believed that the city would be willing to cooperate with the rural districts.

Assemblyman Davis then introduced Judge Irving C. Barnes of New Paltz, who said he was in the country raising business and also raised grain and hay. Judge Barnes said the farmers were there asking the city's cooperation. During the hour the rural districts and the city had worked together co-operating to one end; that of winning the war. Since then the time restrictions were being eliminated and today the only reason for Daylight Saving was that of pleasure. "We would not have the impudence to come before you if it was to interfere with your pleasures," said Judge Barnes. He said he believed that all the benefits from Daylight Saving could be obtained by going to work an hour earlier in the morning and not moving the hands of the clock.

The most difficulty experienced by the farmer under Daylight Saving was with his hired help. The men did the more important farm work in the afternoon and if they quit an hour earlier it was that much time lost to the farmer when it was most needed.

Budget Week For the Y.W.C.A.

Annual Collection Will Begin Next Monday—Only Running Expenses to be Asked For—Budget Week Plan Approved by Hospital Officials

The Y. W. C. A. will hold its annual "Budget Week" beginning next Monday, April 12th, when they will go out to raise $8,500 to carry on the work of the association for the coming year.

The time of the annual collection usually comes the first week of May, but owing to the hospital drive, it was deemed advisable by the finance committee to schedule their own campaign two weeks earlier. Thus the Y. W. C. A. members will be well through with their own work and able to give freely of their efforts in the work of the hospital building campaign.

The association goes before the public with a splendid record of service for the past three years, during which time it has established itself as one of the city's permanent institutions. The committee is stressing only the collection of money for the running expenses and will make no effort to enlarge the building fund this year. They feel confident that the many friends of the Y. W. C. A. will rally to the fore and that they will have no trouble in raising the necessary funds to carry on the association work for the coming year.

The members of the finance committee are: Miss Sarah Horton, chairman; Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler, Mrs. Seth S. Staples, Mrs. George F. Rice, Mrs. Everett Fowler, Mrs. F. J. Higginson, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. May K. Gordon. They will be assisted in their work by a large committee of association members.

The Board of Managers of the Kingston City Hospital has issued the following statement: Kingston, N. Y., April 6, 1926. The board of managers of the City of Kingston Hospital cordially approves of the determination of the Young Women's Christian Association organization to hold their Budget Week during the week beginning Monday, April 12th. This they have done in order that their work may not seem to interfere with the work of the City of Kingston Hospital managers.

We feel very kind of them and much more than the board of managers would feel like asking. This Christian Association has held its drive during each year in May and we feel that we should not and we certainly have not desired in any way to interfere with the very excellent work that they are doing. JAMES A. BETTS, President.

FIRE DRIVES GUESTS IN NIGHT ATTIRE FROM HOTELS

Winnipeg, Man., April 7.—Several hundred guests in the Trocadero and Lindsay hotels were driven from their beds and out on the main street of the city here today when fire swept through the Windsor building, which adjoins the Lindsay Hotel.

No one was reported injured, and damage was estimated at $40,000. Guests who fled the hotels in night attire sought refuge in other hotels in the downtown district.

At that time a delegation had visited the council and one delegate, he said, had gone so far as to try and thrust standard time down the throats of Kingston's residents.

Assemblyman Davis said that the improvement was undoubtedly due to the fact that the delegations had met the members of the common council and was also due to the work of the Ulster County Farm Bureau.

Thinks Clock Gives Extra Hour. Mr. Richardson said that since Daylight Saving had been in effect the health of the city had improved. The only comment against the new time was that it did not last long enough. It gave the factory worker extra hours in the afternoon which was spent in recreation.

Assemblyman Davis said that the rural districts had no objection to the factories closing an hour or two earlier in the afternoon, but believed it would benefit all if standard time was "stuck to."

Taking Time When Needed. Manager Wigton, of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, said that the loss of an hour meant much to the farmer with his hired help in the afternoon when the service was most needed.

Found Sentiment Divided. Alderman Moore, of the Third ward, said that he had found divided sentiment in his ward and that he would be "in wrong no matter which way he voted on the proposition." He said that in order to show the farmers the sentiment of the city he believed a public hearing should be held in the matter. That would take the responsibility from the shoulders of the aldermen who were elected to represent the residents of their own wards.

Public Hearing April 13. He offered as a resolution that a public hearing on Daylight Saving be held Tuesday evening, April 13, at 8 o'clock in the council chambers. The motion was recorded and put to a vote.

Find Hubert Rush Dead in Wilbur Culvert Tuesday

Aged Wilbur Avenue Resident Last Seen Alive Thursday, April 1—Body Found Under McManus Building on Abel Street—Death Thought Caused by Drowning

Last seen alive Thursday evening, April 1, the body of Hubert Rush, 70 years old, of No. 159 Wilbur avenue was found wedged in the culvert under the McManus building at the corner of Abel and Dunn streets about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Coroner W. Norman Connor was notified of the finding of the body and is making an investigation to ascertain how the aged man's body became wedged in the culvert where it was found, and also ascertain the cause of death.

Left Groceries at Fire House. Mr. Rush had resided alone for a number of years. Thursday of last week he stopped at the Twaalfskill Hose Company house and left some groceries on a bob sled, expecting to call for them later. When he did not call the groceries were taken on Friday to the Rush home on a bicycle by a boy named Hoffman, who knocked at the door and, receiving no response, left the groceries on the door sill.

Neighbors Often Called. Tuesday the matter of the man's disappearance was called to the attention of Chief of Police J. Allan Wood and he had Sergeant James V. Simpson make an investigation. It was learned that the neighbors were often in the habit of leaving soup and other articles of food at Rush's home and when they received no response to their knocks placed them on the door sill, and later Mr. Rush would return the bowl or other utensil to the one who had left it.

Find House Vacant. Sergeant Simpson obtained some keys from neighbors and one trying them in the lock, found one that unlocked the front door and entered the house which he searched from cellar to attic but found no trace of Mr. Rush.

Search The Twaalfskill. Through Wilbur flows the Twaalfskill brook, and when Sergeant Simpson reported to Chief Wood that no trace of the man was found in the house he assigned several officers to assist in the search. The police were also aided by neighbors and they searched the entire length of the brook from the septic tank.

Flows Under House. The Twaalfskill brook flows down Chapel street and crosses Dunn street, over which a small bridge extends, and then flows in the open until it reaches Abel street.

At the intersection of Abel and Dunn streets is located the McManus building. The brook flows directly under the building and across Abel street where it empties into the Rondout creek.

Dunn Found Body. Frank Dunn, a neighbor, and others searched the lower end of the brook while the police were searching the upper end, and he found the body of the aged man in the culvert under the McManus building.

Body Discovered Body. The body was somewhat mutilated by dock rats which had mutilated one side of the face and neck.

Thought He Fell From Bridge. As far as the police have learned Rush was last seen alive Thursday evening by Cornelius Enlist of Chapel street who met Rush on the way and walked with him as far as Chapel street where he bid the aged man good night.

It is thought that Rush fell from the bridge that crosses Dunn street and fell into the brook. The water in the brook is not over ten inches in depth and not of sufficient volume to wash the body from the bridge to the culvert some hundred feet below. It is believed that when Rush fell into the brook he was jarred by the fall and picking himself up staggered along the brook until he became fast in the culvert under the McManus building.

The body when found was located under the building about ten feet from the outer wall of the structure.

Found in His Pocket. When the clothing of the dead man was searched there was found a copy of The Freeman of Thursday, April 1, $5 in one dollar bills, a can of tobacco and a pipe and four handkerchiefs.

Was Highly Respected. Mr. Rush at one time was employed at the powder works in Mink Hollow where he received a mutilated hand in an explosion. He had been a resident of Wilbur for many years and was held in high esteem by the residents of that locality. Previous to working at the powder plant he had worked at his trade of cooper with the Rosendale Cement Company and when that plant closed down worked at his trade in other plants.

He was appointed assistant chief of the Kingston Fire Department in 1908 by Mayor James E. Flinn, and always took an active interest in matters pertaining to the volunteer firemen's organizations.

Funeralists Take Charge. Coroner W. Norman Connor turned the body over to Stock & Condit, the Broadway undertaking firm, and arrangements for the funeral will be made later. The dead man had no near relatives, the Coroner being notified.

Mussolini Is Wounded by a Woman Assailant

Bullet Pierces Both Nostrils and Grazes His Cheek—Violet Gibson, British Subject, Fired Shot and Is Rushed to Prison

Rome, April 7.—Premier Mussolini had a narrow escape from death today at the hands of a female assailant.

The premier was shot and slightly wounded by a woman as he left the International Congress of Surgeons where he had delivered an address.

Mussolini was just about step into his automobile and depart for Chigi Palace when the woman fired at him. The bullet aimed at the premier's head went wide of its mark but hit Mussolini in the nose, wounding him slightly.

While the premier's injury is said not to be serious, it is most painful and embarrassing. The bullet pierced both nostrils and grazed the cheek.

In the absence of details from Rome there was much conjecture here on the possible effects of the wound on Mussolini. The premier has been reported recently to be suffering from ill health, necessitating an operation. Some persons believed that the wounding of Mussolini might develop into a more serious ailment than at first believed.

The last attempt to assassinate Mussolini resulted in a great popular demonstration in favor of the premier and increased the strength of the Fascists. On that occasion Mussolini issued an appeal to all Fascists to refrain from reprisals.

Mussolini Remains Calm. Immediate confusion broke out in the crowd that had gathered to pay a tribute to the premier who was about to leave for Tripoli.

In the excitement Mussolini, although bleeding from his wound, was the most calm person present.

The woman, who was elderly, had fired point blank from close range and she was immediately seized in the crowds.

Mussolini intervened and gave orders to those about him to take immediate steps to prevent disorders or reprisals.

The crowd had seized upon Mussolini's elderly assailant and was in a great rage, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that the carabinieri were able to rescue the woman and rush her to prison.

Assailant Sixty Years Old. The premier's assailant, after having been lodged in prison, gave her name as Violet Gibson, and her age as sixty. She stated she is a British subject and was born in Dalkey, near Dublin.

Mussolini had planned to embark today on the Battleship Cavour for Tripoli, and upon the occasion of his departure planned to make an important speech outlining the Fascist Colonial policy.

Prior to embarking he was scheduled to address the International Congress of Surgeons and also to appear before the Fascist Grand Council.

Yesterday Mussolini embarked upon a venture aimed to check profiteering landlords and also designed to speed up home building in Italy.

Reprisals Threatened. Despite the personal orders of Mussolini for no reprisals and the strenuous efforts of the authorities, crowds of demonstrators gathered in the streets and threatened reprisals against Fascists. One group of demonstrators marched into the offices of Il Mondo and made threats against opposition leaders and did some damage to the printing plant of the newspaper.

AMENDOLA, FORMER FASCIST, IS DEAD. Paris, April 7.—Prof. Giovanni Amendola, one of the most relentless opponents of Premier Mussolini and Fascism in Italy died at Cannes today, according to the newspaper Le Matin. Death came as the result of injuries suffered six months ago when he was brutally attacked by a gang of thugs, alleged to have been Fascist hirelings.

Does Belief in Witch Make Man Incompetent?

Jury to Determine Whether William Sheeley Was Incompetent to Make a Will Because He Believed Part of Horse's Ear to Destroy Witch

Is a man incompetent to make a will if he believes in witches and takes methods popular a hundred years ago to dispose of the witch, or make her power null?

This appears to be the question which an Ulster county jury is asked to answer in the will contest action now on trial in county court before Judge Fowler and a jury.

William Sheeley of Binghamton, son of Byron C. Sheeley formerly of Lackawack, seeks to break his father's will and have the property turned over to him, an only son. By the will of Byron Sheeley, a character well known and well liked by residents in the Wawarsing section of the county, the farm and personal property of deceased are given to a niece and her husband, Cora and Benjamin Kortright, who reside near Monticello. It is alleged that Mr. Sheeley was taken to the Kortright home on November 20, last, and on December 21 he made a will. On December 21 he died without the son being notified of his illness and it is the contention of the contestant that the intention of the testator that his father was not mentally capable of making a will at the time the will was made. The will was drawn by Raymond G. Cox and witnessed by him and his brother, Fred Cox.

Was Butcher and Egg Man. Mr. Sheeley was a character well known throughout the section where for years he peddled eggs and butter. He drove about the country buying up eggs and butter and sold them in Ellenville and surrounding country. During his lifetime he made many friends and was widely known by his horses and buckboard which became a familiar sight through the section.

Many years ago he was married and had two children, one of whom survives. Several years ago his wife left him and later they were reunited only to part again some fifteen years ago. Since that time he had resided alone on his small farm in the hills some three or four miles from the state road at Monticello. During that time he traveled about the country carrying on his butter and egg business. A few years ago he sustained a severe loss when one of his hands was amputated. The son contends that he asked his father to come and live with him at that time but the father said so long as he could make a living he would remain on his farm. The son also claims that he assisted his father several years ago when his house burned. It was also testified that Byron Sheeley was very friendly with his son and was very proud of his two grandchildren. He was 62 years old when he died.

Peculiar and Forgetful. Several witnesses were sworn on the part of the contestant. They testified to peculiarities of Mr. Sheeley and also that of late he had been very forgetful.

He wore felt boots last July and August when he came to Ellenville, according to one witness. Others testified that he had become so forgetful that he had stopped trading with him last summer.

Harris Holman, tailor of Ellenville, said that on one occasion Sheeley had told him that when he died he expected to leave everything to his son and grandchildren.

Thought Witch Was at Work. Mary Osterhout of Lackawack testified that Mr. Sheeley dressed shabby and late and had worn felt boots about all of the time. He told her that there was a witch at work. He told her that Maud DePay had bewitched his horses. This, the witness said, she considered queer.

Several other witnesses testified to the actions of Mr. Sheeley during the last few years of his life but all said he was able to drive a good bargain and carry on business.

George Hoff, neighbor of Sheeley, went into detail as to the actions of deceased. Mr. Hoff lives some distance away and for the past four years had been very intimate with deceased. He assisted Mr. Sheeley during his last illness he gave him aid in numerous ways.

Takes Two Horses From. Mr. Hoff said Mr. Sheeley had for years lived alone. During that time he traveled about the country. He had numerous horses and of late he thought he treated them in a cruel manner. When his harness broke he did not see it as a mend it and left the points to die into the horse and tear the flesh. He had seen the horses so sore that the blood ran. Trappers had stopped Sheeley on the road and complained of the cruel practice.

Getting Rid of the Witch. Mr. Sheeley told him of the witch. He said that on one occasion Mr. Sheeley's horse was sick. Mr. Sheeley said he had gone to the barn and cut off a piece of the horse's ear and then without saying a word had gone to the house. Locked the door and opened the stove he had burned the piece of ear in order to burn the witch. He knew on one occasion he had been successful in burning the witch because he told Mr. Hoff that he had scarcely completed the operation when he saw one of the DePay boys going down the road after the doctor and he knew he had burned the witch. He

U. S. Bootleggers Have Big Trade In Wet Canada

Buckner Says Dry United States Exports Bootleg Liquor Into Wet Canada—Raps Present Federal Enforcement Machinery

Washington, April 7.—A monster underworld bootleg industry, flaunting the American Prohibition Law, has grown so powerful that it exports "bootleg alcohol" into the dry provinces of Canada, Emory B. Buckner, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York testified today before the senate "wet and dry" committee.

Buckner painted an amazing picture of the bootleg underworld thriving on diversions of industrial alcohol from legitimate business, its supply to a dry but ever thirsty America, had even cut down the smuggling of foreign liquors into the United States, "because it is easier to get." The illegal alcohol diversions last year alone, he declared, supplied the bootleg trade with $3,600,000, 000 of illicit drinks.

Supplying Canada. "The inefficiency of the industrial alcohol service which lets sixty millions of gallons of alcohol slip into the bootleg trade annually has done as much as the Coast Guard Service to halt smuggling of foreign liquors into the United States," Buckner told an amazed audience which jammed the senate judiciary committee's public hearings.

"There is so much industrial alcohol diverted to bootleggers that a dry United States is exporting bootleg alcohol into wet Canada to help Canadian bootleggers beat the Canadian government out of its alcohol tax."

Raps Federal Machinery. "The National law can never be enforced effectively in New York city with the present federal enforcement machinery," Buckner, frankly told the Senate Judiciary Committee. The chief weakness in enforcement, Buckner said, is the federal court system, which allows jury trials, leads to corruption and permits delays—all of which defeat justice.

"You want to know whether the Prohibition law can be enforced in New York City," said Buckner. "I don't know. The law has never been tried in a way to make enforcement of the law effective. It has never been tried by the federal government because the kind of federal courts which we have, requiring jury trials for even the smallest cases, are not the kind of courts that permit a police law to be enforced."

"Probably Can Be Enforced." Buckner said that "with the right kind of machinery" the law "probably can be enforced."

Buckner was questioned by Julien Codman, the wets' "prosecuting attorney."

"What success have you had in enforcing prohibition?" asked Codman. "I can't answer that question unless you define success," Buckner replied.

Buckner said when he first became United States Attorney, prohibition arrests were being made at the rate of 50,000 a year.

"They were all brought to the federal building by both city police and prohibition agents," he said.

Held on Check Charge. According to the Knickerbocker Press a man who is listed as Henry M. Johnson of Kingston, was arraigned in Schenectady police court Tuesday on a charge of passing a worthless check. He pleaded not guilty. Complaint was made by Harvey H. Holmes, of the Holmes Motor Service, who alleges Johnson gave him a check for $25.50 drawn on the Schenectady Trust Company. Payment was refused, he declares. Johnson, who will be tried Thursday afternoon, is out on $100 bail.

told Mr. Hoff that Maud DePay, his neighbor, was bewitching his horses. Mr. Hoff said that later he got the horse and it died in two weeks. It was bewitched, he declared. He considered Mr. Sheeley a crack.

Mr. Hoff helped Mr. Sheeley for the past four years with his baking, washing and also caring of fruit. When he was ill the son overtook him on soap and her husband took him to a doctor and did other neighborly acts. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoff said Mr. Sheeley talked frequently of his son and of a distance which he had given. He came to see his father many times.

Unfriendly to Kortright. Mr. Hoff said that Mr. Sheeley had told him that since her marriage to Mr. Kortright his niece, Mrs. Kortright, had not been the same. He also said that he was not on friendly terms at one time with the Kortrights. Prior to her marriage to Mr. Kortright, Sheeley said Mrs. Kortright had helped him.

Mr. Hoff said that once Mr. Sheeley had completed a going blind on the road. She apparently did not think this was so and said she considered it as irrational act. During his illness at the Kortright home, where he was taken by the Kortrights a few days prior to his death, Mr. Hoff said he had seen Sheeley. One evening he told him that his horse had been found in the cellar by Mr. Hoff's mother. This, the witness said, he considered queer and had told the Kortrights of the matter as well as others who were present.

ILLINOI PROFESSOR FINDS UNKNOWN CHEMICAL ELEMENT

Dr. Hopkins First American to Make
 Discovery of This Kind—Calls
 It "Illinium"

Urbana, Ill.—Discovery of one of the five unknown chemical elements has just been announced by the University of Illinois, the work of Dr.
 B. S. Hopkins, professor of inorganic chemistry, assisted by L. F. Yntema and J. A. Harris of the chemistry staff.
 It was the first time such a discovery ever had been made in this country.

The new element is known in the chemistry world as No. 61. Eighty-seven of the possible ninety-two single substances known on the earth,
 which make all compounds that exist,
 previously had been isolated and identified. It is the combination of these various elements that make up matter.

The discovery followed extensive research covering more than five years in the rare earths laboratory of the university. Specially constructed X-ray machinery with which the work was carried on, was designed and manufactured on the campus.

Doctor Hopkins has named his discovery "Illinium" the metal of the "Illini". It honors both the state and the university, he explained. "The first part of the name, Illini, everyone will recognize," he said "while the final three letters form merely the scientific ending for metals."

The most recently discovered element was hafnium, announced in Copenhagen in 1923. The announcement created great interest, but the element is comparatively little known.
 The youngest well-known element discovered is helium.

This was first observed as existing in the sun in 1868, and then in 1894 was discovered on the earth.
 Many elements, such as gold, silver, mercury, iron, copper, lead and the like were known to the ancients, but others are more modern in discovery and without exception were first announced in a foreign country.

Automobile Fails to Scare "Wild" Geese

Portland, Ore.—Wild geese that have become intrepid and, due to the closed season, are immune from the ordinary menaces of hunters and shotguns, have made their winter home in Gilliam county, near Arlington and Blalock, and have been engaged for several weeks in surfacing themselves from the laboriously planted wheat fields in the region, not intimidated by scarecrows and all the ordinarily efficacious devices for frightening birds, according to game officials. The geese, with characteristic laziness and unnatural acumen, refused to go further south for their winter home with mild weather and plenty of food in Oregon.

A man has been employed by the game commission to drive constantly up and down the wheat fields in an automobile to frighten the geese away, due to complaints received several weeks ago from farmers that their wheat fields were being despoiled, but the geese have become so tame that this has so far had little effect, the geese going no farther away from the fields than is necessary to keep from being actually run down.

Rejects Wrist Watch for Statue of Liberty

Washington.—An offer by Lazarus Bros. of New York to affix an illuminated clock to the wrist of the statue of Liberty in New York harbor has been declined by the War department.

Assistant Secretary MacNider, in a letter to Oscar M. Lazarus, said that while the spirit which prompted the offer was appreciated the "department feels constrained to decline it."

"Aside from any question as to the congruity of so modern an ornament
 as a wrist watch upon the classically robed figure of Liberty, or the property of making alterations in the designer's conception of a work of art presented to this country as a memorial of traditional friendship between it and France," the assistant secretary said, "there is a statute which prohibits any officer of the government accepting voluntary service for the government, or employing personal service in excess of that authorized by law. It is believed this statute prevents favorable consideration of your very liberal offer."

U. S. Fifth From Top
 on India's Trade List

New York.—The "Report on the Conditions and Prospects of British Trade in India," by Thomas M.
 Alington, senior trade commissioner in India and Ceylon, published for the department of overseas trade, gives some interesting figures relating to American trade with India.

The United States now stands fifth in order of importance in India's trade. Her share before the war was 2.6 per cent, in 1923 2.24, 2.6 per cent,

"VIEWS" OF AMERICA ON ENGLISH DISHES

Staffordshire Plates Portray Authentic History.

Writing about American history as depicted on old Staffordshire dishes so popular and cheap 100 years ago in the United States but now costly as antiques, M. L. Fenton, in the Dear born Independent, says most of the plates which we term "Staffordshire" were made during the years between 1812 and 1828 although the making of them had begun earlier. In 1780, by Stevenson and Dale at Cobridge. They are distinguished by their remarkably satisfying blue color, by a decorative border, which varies with each manufacturer, and, chiefly, by the "view" of an American scene in the center of the plate. They were made of common clay, in a fairly rough-and-ready manner, and were sold in America at prices as low as fourpence and no higher than a shilling. That price included the cost of transporting them from the center of England across the ocean and thence inland to the dealers in tableware in the various cities.

The potters having determined to make the decoration a matter of views of America set about securing good and representative ones, which they did from three sources: from such volumes of "The Beauties of America" which were popular in England at the time, from the sketchbooks of English gentlemen who had crossed the seas to look upon those beauties for themselves, and from the sketches of their own artists whom they sent over to supplement the subjects that had been procurable in England. We know the name of one of these men, W. C. Wall, from Dublin, who came to New York in 1815 to make sketches for the Stevenson pottery at Cobridge. When a housewife bought a Staffordshire plate she had an accurate picture, and she had, moreover, scenes from every part of the country, Dan to Bear-sheba, from which to make her selection. The sketches were engraved upon copper and then transferred to the clay by means of wet impressions made on copper paper with prepared colors mixed with oil. So that, in effect, the plates are copper engravings upon clay, the work, by hand,
 of artist artisans.

The ware was sold in America in huge quantities. Every house required dishes, there was no pottery in America, this wa, was cheap, was reasonably strong, and unbreakable. It looked well on shelves and upon white cloths.

The principal makers of Staffordshire were Enoch Wood of Burslem, a friend of John Wesley, whose bust
 he made in 1781; Joseph Stubbs of Burslem; Andrew Stevenson of Co-bridge; R. Stevenson and Williams of Cobridge, whose plates are of artistic excellence; Joseph Clews, a very successful potter, of Cobridge, who tried to start a pottery in America at Troy, Perry county, Indiana, in 1800;
 the Ridgeways, father and son, at Hanley, and Joseph Booth at Tunstall.
 The latter is best known as the maker of tableware which depicts the "Resistance of Richard Jordan."

Moons and Tides

Ocean tides are caused by the attraction of gravity of the moon, with some help from the other heavenly bodies.
 The attraction of the moon causes a bulge in the ocean on the earth resulting upon its axis. Tides are not acceivable except on large bodies of water.

BARRY REPORTS A CAPTURE.

Cape Charles, Va., April 7, 1776.
 Captain John Barry of the Continental navy, commander of the Lexington, forwarded the following message to the Marine Committee of Congress today:

"I have the pleasure to acquaint you that at one P. M. this day I fell in with the sloop Edward belonging to the Liverpool frigate (British).
 She engaged us near two glasses.
 They killed two of our men and wounded two more. We shattered her in a terrible manner, as you will see. We killed and wounded several of her crew. I shall give you a particular account of the powder and arms taken out of her, as well as my proceedings in general. I have the happiness to acquaint you that all our people behaved with much courage.

Captain Barry, a native of Ireland, was selected for a commission in the navy of the United Colonies in October. He was the first naval officer to receive his appointment from Congress. His ship, the Lexington of 16 guns has been fitted out, with the Reprisal, 16 guns, the sloop Sachem and Independence, 10 guns each, and the Mosquito, four guns, for cruizing duty along the coast of the middle colonies. The Liverpool is one of several British frigates which have been causing much trouble for the people of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia by their raids on shipping and settlements along the coast.

SNIPERS SCORE SUCCESS.

Newport, R. I., April 7, 1776.—
 The British warship Glasgow, upon arrival here after her battle with the American squadron off Block Island early yesterday morning, took anchorage with the fleet, showing many evidences of hard usage at the hands of the Americans. She had hardly dropped her anchors
 when the Continental troops renewed their land attack of yesterday upon the British navy. The Continentals have two 18 pounders on Coddington Point with which their snipers they have done such effective sniping that the warship and her tenders have sought refuge further up the bay.

Captain Tyringham Howe of the Glasgow declines to be interviewed concerning his engagement with the American fleet. There are no indications today that the substantial vessels will go in pursuit of Commander Hopton. It is more probable that they will soon sail away,
 either to New York or to Halifax.
 They are known to be in great need of fresh provisions which they encounter increasing difficulty in getting since the Continental soldiers and the militia have strengthened their guard along the shores of Narragansett Bay.

Seriously Hurt In Auto Mishap

Albany, N. Y., April 7.—One person was possibly fatally injured and three others sustained severe cuts and bruises early today when an automobile skidded off the Keewau road about a mile outside the city limits and crashed into a tree.

Miss Dolores Meyers, 21, of 142 First street, was the most seriously injured. She was rushed to the Albany Hospital, where physicians fear she sustained a fractured skull. She was still unconscious early today.

Betty Young, 16, of 140 North Lake avenue, William Richardson, 21, of 115 Central avenue and Clarence Drumm, 22, of 31 Beaver street, the other occupants of the automobile, received painful cuts and bruises.

Richardson, who was driving the car, said he was driving at a moderate rate of speed when the machine suddenly swerved off the highway near the Abbey Inn and crashing through a fence alongside the road brought up against a tree. All the occupants were thrown from the machine by the force of the impact.

Drumm and Richardson were questioned by State Troopers but were later released pending an investigation of the accident.

Reunion Reports Surprise Berlins

Berlin Says He Knows Nothing of the Reported Reconciliation With Clarence Mackay.

Paris, April 7.—If Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin are about to become reconciled with Clarence Mackay, father of Mrs. Berlin, they are not ready to announce it to the world.

In their Paris hotel today Mr. and Mrs. Berlin were questioned by the International News Service concerning London reports of a reconciliation, effected by Mrs. James A. Stillman.

Both Irving and Ellin appeared somewhat surprised at the report. Berlin hesitated for a moment. Then he replied: "I know nothing about it." Further than this Berlin did not go.

The Berlins plan to remain in Paris for a month before going to London for the production of the musical show which Berlin is writing in collaboration with Frederick Lonsdale.

London, April 7.—Friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin are anxiously watching the development of efforts to effect a reconciliation between the composer and his wife, and Clarence Mackay, financier and father of Ellin Mackay Berlin.

Report has it that Mackay has already indicated that he will welcome his daughter and her husband back to New York and give them social recognition, forgiving them for their hasty marriage without his consent.

The Berlins will not return to New York, however, until Irving Berlin has completed the music for a musical comedy which Sir Alfred Butt is to produce here. At present the Berlins are in Paris.

Mrs. James Stillman, who is now here, is said to have been instrumental in bringing about a situation where complete reconciliation between the Berlins and Mackay is possible.

They are slaves who fear to speak for the fallen and the weak. They are slaves who will not choose hatred, scolding and abuse. Rather, they in silence link from the truth they needs must think.

VARIETY OF SANDWICHES

Sandwiches are always in season and the housewife who can make dainty, attractive and tasty sandwiches will always find someone to enjoy them.

Purée of Sardine Sandwiches.—Drain the oil from one large can of sardines. Remove the skin and bones and pound the fish to a paste, rub through a puree strainer. To the puree add one-fourth cupful of creamed butter, two finely-chopped hard cooked eggs; season with salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce. Mix thoroughly and spread thinly-sliced bread with mayonnaise and an equal number with the sardine mixture. Put together in pairs with a crisp leaf of lettuce between. Cut the sandwiches into three strips, lengthwise of the sandwiches.

Melba Sandwiches.—Chop the meat from three dozen large queen oysters. Add one cupful of finely-chopped pecan meats. Moisten with mayonnaise dressing. Spread thin slices of graham bread with green pepper butter and the same number with the oyster mixture; put together in pairs, trim off the crusts and cut into triangles. Serve with salad or oyster cocktails.

Hot Butter Sandwiches.—Finely chop one pound of cold cooked halibut; add a few drops of onion juice, two teaspoonsful of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of salt and a few grains of cayenne; fold in one-fourth of a cupful of heavy cream that has been beaten until stiff; add the whites of three eggs beaten stiff. Turn the mixture into a small buttered, brick-shaped mold and cook in water in a moderate oven. Chill, remove from the mold and cut into slices. Spread thinly-sliced buttered bread with mayonnaise, add a slice of the filling and put together with another slice of buttered bread. Cut into six desired shapes.

Sport Wraps for Mid-Season Wear

Interesting Coat That Conforms With Straight-Line Wrap Around.

For early spring, fashion has set her heart on the smart mid-season sport wrap, such as is worn by a prominent screen star.

Of a bright, dashing mixture, the coat conforms with the fashionable straight-line wrap around, but also features the graceful, circular cape in the back, which definitely transforms a mere sport model into an interesting coat permissible for morning, afternoon or informal evening wear.

A vivid orange line marks off the gray-and-white woolen mixture into squares, and the same attractive coloring is repeated in the racoon fur which forms the deep cuffs, the stand-up high collar and the hem of the cape.

Soft orange silk lines the cape and the rest of the coat, which buttons on the side, thus giving the front of the garment a slim, narrow appearance that is decidedly becoming.

The high fur collar in the back attaches to deep revers of the cloth. The entire coat is expressly fashioned for warmth and comfort at the same time presenting, in its coloring and make, the new spring motif.

A mid-season coat of this style is especially useful, bridging as it does the gap between the heavy, cumbersome winter wrap and the light-weight spring garment that is a questionable protection against the blustery winds.

The lovely, fresh coloring of the Graceful, Circular Cape in Back, Feature of This Coat.

cape coat is a prophecy of the new spring plaids and mixtures that will make their appearance for the season. "The brighter the plaid, the more fetching the garment," says Dame Fashion, who has definitely chosen the vivid hues as her favorites, and left the drab, neutral tones out in the cold region of her disfavour.

Many novel designs, both large and small, will be featured for the spring, all woven in the gayest silks and woolsens. In many instances, the figured or plaid material is combined with the solid color with stunning effect.

Sport coats, this season, will divide themselves into two separate and distinct classes. Those that are essentially for sport wear only, and the more popular kind that can be pressed into service for almost any occasion.

In the first class are strictly tailored, simple coats that are very good looking in brilliant plaids, soft woolen mixtures and heavy tweeds.

Rhinestones, Crystals in New Hat Ornaments

Rhinestones and crystals are successfully combined in the new hat ornaments, which are so artistically and appropriately designed that they may be worn to advantage on other parts of the costume. The sport hat has ornaments that are minutely copied from golf clubs, polo sticks, golf bags, sailboats and tennis rackets. For more formal wear are floral and modernistic designs and very long ornaments used for head bands.

Pearls and rhinestones alternate in a necklace slightly longer than the jacket. The pearls are flat on one side to correspond with the flat setting of the rhinestones, and to preserve the even look and shimmering effect.

These necklaces, bracelets, have a pendant in front in feathers or strand of pearls.

Silver and gold short necklaces in triple strands are attractive for general wear. Their simplicity makes them adaptable for almost any time with all costumes. These necklaces resemble the traditional chain and on account of their flexibility they lie flat about the back of the neck. The bracelets, which match, have a clasp which may be incorporated or cut with a jewel.

BARON'S BODY MAY BE PLACED IN POTTER'S FIELD.

New York, April 7.—The body of Baron Von Stoeckberg, the toast of the Russian army for his gallantry in action, today faced the oblivion of Potter's Field, public burying ground of the Metropolis.

The baron, known as "Baron De Halpin" in America, died his life with poison in his blood room while detectives were awaiting to arrest him on a charge of grand larceny. Mrs. Stoeckberg, the widow of the baron, was in the city at the time of his death. She was in the city at the time of his death. She was in the city at the time of his death.

Philadelphia manufacturer, and other friends of the baron, defended

Halpin's name and said the charge was a mistake. Halpin operated on a bond salesman to Syracuse and Watertown and was known in up-state society. Halpin has a wife and two sons but they have not lived with him for several years. The wife lived in Pasadena, Cal., for a time, but it was said she was now in Paris and his sons were in an English boarding school.

An autopsy will be performed on the body today and if no claim is made Halpin will be buried in Potter's Field. Still, the hapless people are those who don't amount to much and don't give a darn.

"SALE" OF GERMAN TROOPS.

Hiring foreigners to fight in other people's wars is a custom as old and older than the days of the ancient Greek mercenaries enlisted in the armies of the younger Cyrus and other monarchs in Asia Minor centuries before the Christian era. These Greek mercenaries, however, were free to choose and pocketed their own gains. It appears that the subjects of at least one modern state were far less fortunate. According to a Berlin dispatch, recent investigations show that up to the nineteenth century German princes had "sold" 236,166 of their subjects for $3,750,000 to England for army service against the American Colonies, the French and other enemies.

It seems that Duke Karl Wilhelm Ferdinand of Braunschweig sent 4,300 men to England for $28 a head, with an additional indemnity of $22 a head for each man killed in action, three wounded men to be counted as one dead. Landgrave Frederick II of Hesse "sold" 12,000 Hessians at $75 a head, with an annual "rental" fee of $500,000. As these and other German princes received higher pay when their peons were killed, they sent agents to keep strict account of the losses, and a letter from the Frederick II of Hesse commends his agent "for seeing to it that of 1950 of his peons in the battle of Trenton only 300 escaped alive." An itemized statement was eagerly desired because "the English Minister wants to pay for only 1455 killed." The language of some of the letters seems to show that the larger the death list the greater the satisfaction.

German immigrants to this country in the period of 1861-5 were much better off than some of their grandparents, for they could pocket the "bounties" offered for the war service at Washington and not be compelled to send even a small part of the gains to any German kinsman or prince.

THE CONSTITUTION AGAIN.

Under the United States Constitution the right of the people to assemble and petition for redress is explicitly affirmed. According to the Anti-Saloon League, as interpreted by Orville S. Poland, a referendum on the Volstead Law is "presumptuous and impudent," because "it gratuitously addresses to Congress advice from the people of New York as to what Congress shall do about a federal matter. This advice is unsought and presumptuous."

Mr. Poland is very fond of quoting the Constitution and professing great reverence for it. In fact, in the proclamation from which the questions just made are taken he refers feelingly to the Constitution as "the supreme law of the land," quoting the words from it. The Constitution, like everything else, is only "supreme" to Mr. Poland and his fellow intertempers when it agrees with their purposes. When it disagrees they ignore it, as Mr. Poland does when he asserts that for the people of New York state to assemble and petition Congress to change the Volstead Law is "impudent." In the view of Mr. Poland and his fellow extremists and dictators everything that is not in implicit obedience to their demands, that questions their wisdom and righteousness or that proposes to give the people an opportunity to express their opinions is "impudent."

If there is such an overwhelming majority in favor of the Volstead Law why are the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Temperance, Miller's New York Civic League and kindred organizations of hat powers so afraid to let the voters stand up and be counted?

The New York papers publish an astounding account of the adulteration of milk in the city of New York to the effect that for the last five years forty per cent of the milk sold in that city had been adulterated with water and skimmed milk, the greater part of this adulterated milk was sold to hospitals and people of limited means, the dealers who adulterated in the last two years paid over one million of dollars to the inspectors whose duty it was to inspect milk as before for permitting the adulteration. One of the great blessings which Kingston enjoys which accounts for the uniform freedom of the city from fevers and epidemics is the purity of its milk supply which is maintained by the strict supervision of the board of health and the constant bacteriological analysis made by the bacteriological forces of the city laboratory. It has been impossible for any milk dealer to circumvent the care and precaution exercised by these officials with regard to our milk supply, even if he cared to do so.

A NEW CAUSE FOR ECZEMA.

One of our Western physicians, treating an acute throat ailment, noticed that a troublesome eczema appeared at the same time as the throat condition, ran its course with it, and cleared up at the same time, also.

Investigating five cases of eczema he found that three of them cleared up after the removal of abscessed teeth, another after correction of an infection from intestine, and the other was case mentioned above.

Another point noted was that the usual remedies applied to relieve itching had very little effect upon these cases.

Now eczema is a very common skin ailment, with reddened scaly patches, sometimes with a little raised point from which a watery or straw colored sticky fluid is noted.

That it is not always due to infection from teeth and so forth is of course well known, because washwomen have it from soaking their hands in an alkaline solution so much; workmen also working with chemical irritants and dyes are frequent sufferers. It would seem that anything that removes the natural oil or grease from the skin, such as coal oil, benzine, turpentine, may cause it.

And you have likely seen many cases, where from constant rubbing or scratching an eczema has started.

Further, it is very often due to some forms of food, as cases have cleared up where the patient cut down their intake of tea, white bread, potatoes, and raw fruits.

Now all of this has been known for the past thirty years or more, and great success has been attained by using food, tonics, by local applications to the part, and by proper diet.

However that some infection may enter into the causation of eczema is a new suggestion, and one that will be followed up by the skin specialist and the general practitioner also.

There is nothing perhaps so discouraging as the persistence with which eczema about the scalp and face, and on the hands, feet, and legs, will hang on for months and months.

And now where it is known that the patient doesn't handle any irritant, avoids the special foods noted above, and hasn't the type of skin that seems predisposed to eczema, the problem may be solved by locating the change in the blood, and the consequent irritation of the skin.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

Incursions Made by French and Indians and Ambushes at Saratoga, April 7, 1747.

There had been a considerable period of relief from French attacks in what is now Northern New York, but in 1744 war again broke out between England and France and the American colonies were once more exposed to raids from the north and west.

This war is known as the Old French War, to distinguish it from that of 1753. Soon as the news reached New York Governor George Clinton called a council of the chiefs of the Confederacy, known as the six Nations, who met at Albany, June 18, 1744, and renewed the covenant chain that had so long held them and the colonists in mutual ties of friendship.

Expeditions from Canada reached as far south as Saratoga and filled Schenectady and Albany with refugees whose farms were burned and who were cared for by the inhabitants of those places during the following winter.

This territory has been the great strategic point in all the wars waged for the control of this continent. In the earliest colonial history the French from their settlements in Canada and the English from the colonies contended for supremacy along the wonderful water route provided by the Hudson River, Lake George, Lake Champlain and the Mohawk watershed. Up and down this fertile area swept marauding bands of Indians and rangers, and armies of brilliantly uniformed troops.

As early as April 20, 1746, a party of Iroquois belonging to Sault St. Louis made several scouts to Saratoga, they took some prisoners, and reached as far as Orange, present Albany. During the following several months incursions were frequently made and scalps and prisoners taken at Schenectady and Albany, and it was during one of these raids that John Groat, of Schenectady, was captured. He died in Quebec November 20, 1746.

The energetic manner in which the French and their savages made war upon the almost undefended frontier settlements made capture easy for they were taken by surprise and unprepared for war.

On November 16, 1745, three hundred French and two hundred Indians attacked the Dutch settlement of present Schuylerville, massacred many inhabitants and ravaged a large extent of territory. Thirty persons are known to have been killed and scalped and above sixty taken prisoners. Many times during 1746 similar raids were made upon this frontier, some reaching many miles below Albany.

Resistance to these incursions was almost limited to the activity of the Mohawk, who were sent out by Colonel (afterwards Sir) William Johnson. A company of these warriors marched from Mohawk Castle, April 3, 1747, towards Crown Point. They divided into two parties, one of which soon skirmished with a company of Frenchmen and Indians, several of whom were killed and scalped.

But the most sanguinary conflict at this moment occurred on April 7, 1747, when the French and their Indian allies appeared in force at Saratoga. They laid an ambush into which a party of English were caught and eight of the latter killed and many wounded.

Captain Livingston dispatched Captain Bradt with a company of troops, who marched up on the opposite side of the river and upon their appearance the enemy drew off leaving much plunder and several wounded Frenchmen behind them.

The distress occasioned by this war prompted the inhabitants of Albany to petition to the Provincial Assembly for relief. But the sufferings of Schenectady were even greater because more exposed, more impoverished, and less secure.

During 1747 Captain Tiebout's company on foot was stationed at Schenectady, where they served faithfully until the peace of 1748.

(CROSS-BARRED GIFT HORSE.

The saying that one shouldn't look a gift horse in the mouth really means nothing, as a gift horse hasn't any mouth. This fact was discovered only three months ago when an expedition from the American Museum of Natty Natural History was sent to New Brunswick to learn what would happen if a gift horse were to receive a stare in his oral cavity. Since the gift horse has no mouth, it is unable to eat, but this causes it no inconvenience, as it is so fat when born that it has enough food to last through a lifetime. The middle-aged gift horses are used for pulling loads of cordwood, but the old ones become so thin that they go right through the harness.

A Brazil nut for the head with split bean eyes, popcorn nose, and split peanut ears, is fastened to a gift horse by painted in black and orange bars. The legs are toothpicks and split almonds do for the feet. The tail is a small feather secured for some convenient chicken (Metropolitan Newspaper Service.) Tomorrow—The Splurging Strut.

Many Matters Before Council

Corporation Council Jenkins Reports Referee Found Assessment Against Central Hudson Steamboat Company Correct.

Corporation Council James Jenkins reported to the common council Tuesday evening that the city had been upheld in its contention that the assessment made against the Central Hudson Steamboat Company was correct. The matter had come before Virgil B. Van Wagoner as referee and he had upheld the city's contention. The report of the referee would shortly be presented to Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck for confirmation.

Judge Jenkins stated that since the courts had ordered a reduction of assessment to $26,000 it had been ascertained that there had been 250 feet of dock property that had not been assessed and that the new assessment would be $44,522.

Favor Goodrich Bill.

At the suggestion of Mayor Block the council went on record as favoring the Goodrich bill now before the legislature at Albany which provided for a gas tax with a refund of 50 per cent to the cities and communities. Other bills before the legislature provided that all of the revenue derived from the measure would go to the state.

The following resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper boards for action:

By Alderman Haines—That board of public works give consideration to the repair of Ten Broeck avenue, North Manor avenue, Bruyn avenue, Smith avenue, Tremper avenue and Belvedere street, and that same be done as soon as repaired.

By Alderman Radel—That broken guard rail in front of Ahl's garage on Hudson street be repaired; that Abel and Spruce streets be repaired.

By Alderman Fox—That Delaware avenue from Bruyn street to North street be depressed and rolled; that holes and ruts in Walnut street and East Union street, near North street, be filled.

By Alderman Mann—That traffic standard be placed at corner of East Union street and Chambers street.

By Alderman Moore—That holes in East Chester street and Clifton avenue be filled.

By Alderman Mann—That additional car lights be placed on Hasbrouck avenue between Mill street and East Union street.

By Alderman Everett—That immediate attention be given to condition of roadbed on Boulevard and that fences be repaired.

By Alderman Neale—That all council sessions start at 7:30 o'clock hereafter. This was objected to by Alderman Everett and on vote was lost.

To Print City Charter.

By Alderman O'Reilly—That corporation counsel be given power to have the city charter printed and all ordinances brought up to date. There was some question raised as to the cost and Judge Jenkins stated that he was having the work of revising the charter and bringing it up to date done for which there would be no charge. The only charge would be to have it printed. This resolution was adopted.

Later in the session Alderman Everett moved that all bids for the printing be referred to the finance, ways and means committee which was also adopted.

By Alderman Moore—That Tubby street be depressed and rolled; that Stephan street incandescent light be placed at brow of hill.

By Alderman Smith—That North Front street be depressed before summer; that holes in Snyder avenue and Apple street be filled; that Janet street be depressed and rolled, and that catch basin be put in as there was none on that street.

The council after auditing some bills adjourned for two weeks.

Instructive Talk For Physicians

Proper pre-natal care for expectant mothers was stressed by Dr. Paul T. Harper, professor of obstetrics at the Albany Medical College at the meeting of the Ulster County Medical Society at the Benedictine Hospital Tuesday, April 6, at 3 o'clock. Dr. Harper also explained in an exceptionally instructive and practical manner all of the factors in pre-natal care and also discussed the management of normal labor.

The meeting Tuesday was the first of a series of six post-graduate lectures on obstetrics to be given in Kingston by the State Department of Health in cooperation with the State Medical Society. The course is for physicians in Ulster and Greene counties. This first meeting was well attended, there being present, in addition to Kingston doctors, physicians from Ellenville, Saugerties and other rural districts. The public health nurses of the city and the nurses of both hospitals were in attendance.

Dr. Louise Dietz, of the division of maternity and child hygiene, State Department of Health, was present at the meeting and gave a clinical demonstration of pre-natal care by making a physical examination of an expectant mother who was presented by Mrs. Lois Gray, Junior League child welfare nurse. In addition to this examination Dr. Dietz advised the expectant mother as to diet, rest, work and other matters. Samples of infant clothing approved by the State Department of Health experts were on exhibition.

The other lectures in this post-graduate series, which is one of the most important and far reaching life-giving efforts ever undertaken in Ulster county, will be announced within a short time. It is planned to have the entire series within the next two or three months.

Moscow's Many Cats

Moscow is about twelfth among world cities as population is usually computed, but based upon the number of pussy cats it is first in the world. Living conditions that limit each person to 44 square feet of space or less are largely responsible, for under these conditions the cat has captured the dog as a household pet. In many apartments where each family has room and the use of a corner in the community kitchen the cat population is larger and louder than the human. Statistics show that Moscow has 2,000,000 cats. New York has 1,000,000 cats. London has 500,000 cats. Paris has 400,000 cats. The cat is a wonderful pet, they fit and the wear is guaranteed.

Assembly Kills 48-Hour Bill

Albany, April 7.—The assembly today was on record as having killed the bill by Assemblyman Shonk, (R) of Westchester, providing a 48-hour working week for women and children in industry.

Ten Republicans voted with the Democrats to bring this bill out of rules committee for a vote on the floor of the house, but the motion of Assemblyman Bloch, Democratic leader, was lost.

Fifty-nine Democrats and 10 Republicans voted for the 48-hour bill, and 79 Republicans voted against it. Advocates of this measure did not make as good a showing at this session as in 1925. Last year they came within one vote of passing the Shonk Bill, but this year they were seven short.

In the debate on the 48-hour bill, Democrats charged Republicans with failure to carry out the G. O. P. state platform of 1924 which endorsed the principle of the 48-hour week.

Republicans who voted for the bill were Assemblymen Shonk, Blumberg, Bernhardt, Berkowski, Brooks, Granthal, Hofstadter, Linen, Nicolli, and Phelps.

THE TWO LEOPARDS

"I have more sense," said the Leopard.

"That's nothing of which to boast," said the Black Leopard.

"What does sense do for us? It doesn't do anything worth while."

"Now food feeds us."

"You don't say so," snarled the Leopard. "That's really extremely bright of you to say that food feeds us."

"I would imagine, of course, if you hadn't been so good as to tell me, that food covered us up when we went to sleep, or that we took baths in it, or that we hid under it when the enemy was trying to get us."

"You talk to me in such a rude fashion!" growled the Black Leopard.

"How dare you, when you know that I am considered the crosser of all the Cat family."

"And now, thinking it all over, you didn't even say that we had sense."

"You only said you had it."

"Well," said the Leopard, "you didn't seem to mind much then."

"Now you are objecting just because you want to quarrel about everything you can."

"You are naturally a mean fellow. I am not to be compared to you as far as mean ways are concerned."

"I am glad you admit you are my inferior and that I am your superior," snarled the Black Leopard.

"I suppose you know that an inferior is one of little importance and a superior is one of great importance."

"An inferior is not so superior as a superior."

"I admit nothing of the sort," said the Leopard.

"And your meanings are more or less true but have nothing to do with the case."

"Why not, I'd like to know?"

"Oh, I'll tell you. But I do admit that I have sense."

"I can hide cleverly from the enemy. That is sensible of me."

"I only seek smaller animals when I am free, and so do not run such dangerous chances."

"I came from Asia and I have bigger spots than my African relatives."

"Of course spots and sense have nothing to do with each other except they both begin with the same letter."

"I can do all those things," said the Black Leopard, "and I also came from Asia."

"Yes, I came from that fine part of Asia from where all black leopards come."

"You can't boast when I am around."

"You find you aren't any better than I am."

"You find, in fact, that you are not nearly so fine as Mr. Black Leopard."

"In other words you aren't as fine as I, Mr. Black Leopard, myself."

But the Leopard knew that the Black Leopard was always cross and

"I Am Your Superior," said the Black Leopard.

ugly and loved to do harm so he decided he wasn't worth talking to any more.

He knew the truth of what he had said, and he knew he would not be able to convince the Black Leopard of any thing except his own wild ways.

And he didn't have to bother to do that, for the Black Leopard was well aware of them.

Oh yes, the Black Leopard knew his own wild disposition and saw no reason to change it for a better one. In fact he was satisfied to be dissatisfied.

To Keep You Guessing

Why is a fish peddler never generous? Because his business makes him sell fish.

Why is a cautious, prudent man like a pin? Because his head prevents him going too far.

What should you do if you split your sides with laughter? Run until you get a stitch in them.

Why is a dirty child like a banana? Because it shrinks from washing.

What bird would be supposed to lift the heaviest weight? The crane.

Why is a field of grass like a person older than seventy? Because it's past your age (pasture).

What is the difference between a head surgeon and a scarf? One is used for property, the other a prop for a great-chapper's Weekly.

Tough

The family had come on the eve for dinner. It wasn't very tender, on the other hand. "This meat is so tough that you can't get your teeth into it."

"Oh, no, papa," spoke up Betty, her nose and "you might get your teeth into it, but you can't get your cut of it."

HEAD COLDS

OFF-COLOR TEETH

Lighten quickly—Gums firm

Get Pepsodent—Works wonders by clearing film coat from teeth

TEETH seldom are naturally "off color." Most often they are merely coated with a film that forms on teeth and absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. By clearing it off, one's whole appearance may be changed.

Old-type dentifrices failed to remove that film successfully. That's why brushing has failed you. Now leading dentists urge the special film-removing dentifrice, called Pepsodent, for this purpose.

Results are quick and surprising. Film coats go. Teeth whiten; sparkle like jewels. Bacteria that thrive in film are combated; tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea thus scientifically fought. Get Pepsodent now at any good drug store.

Society Chews Gum to Slenderize

Fifth Avenue has found a new, easy way to get thin without dieting, fasting or massage. It seems that science has discovered a remarkable, harmless, medicinal ingredient, purely vegetable—free from thyroid or dangerous drugs—that often takes off several pounds a week. It acts quickest when well chewed. Therefore it is embodied in a deliciously flavored chewing gum called "Slenderize." Local druggists, after reading of the remarkable results obtained in New York, are stocking the gum heavily so that our own stout, unpeople can follow Fifth Avenue lead and "Slenderize with Slenderize."

New Residences At West Hurley

Rapid Development Being Shown by Purchase of Home Sites and Erection of New Houses.

West Hurley, April 7.—This spring though late in arriving has made an early start here along realty lines and indications are that before long this hamlet, because of its short distance from Kingston, its ideal location, and because of its scenery, will become a summer if not a residential section to be reckoned with.

E Hoyt Green, retired merchant of Kingston has purchased a large lot of Nicholas H. Rowe on the main highway overlooking the Ashokan reservoir with a fine view of the Catskills and has tentative plans drawn for an up-to-date Colonial residence where he will make his permanent home.

George E. Wilbur, who recently purchased the modern residence of Fred Saxs, is improving his property and Mr. Saxs, who purchased a plot on the West Hurley-Woodstock highway, "just around the corner," is building an up-to-date home. Hobart Rowe is having finished a modern residence on the same highway with all improvements and Charles Kiersted has just completed the building of a six-room bungalow near the above on the West Hurley-Woodstock highway.

Work will be soon started on a fine residence by Samuel J. Campbell of Brooklyn on the West Hurley-Woodstock highway who a few days ago purchased a fine site from George Hammond of Hurley. Cool Ridge Park near the same section has new residences erected upon it, and it is expected that before June 1 deals will be closed for the taking over of a number of lots by New York and Brooklyn people who will build.

Don't worry if you hear a strange noise at night, it is merely the cat bill climbing up to the roof.

THERE is a marked trend in the automobile industry toward centralized chassis lubrication—quickened by a disposition among car-buyers to look upon a car as being old-fashioned if it has to be oiled by hand.

Following the example of Chandler and Cleveland Six, both of which possess the famous "One Shot" System, many companies are now hurrying to bring out newer models equipped with similar methods of centralized chassis lubrication.

With both Chandler and Cleveland, all you have to do is to press a plunger with your heel—and quicker than you can say the word, "One Shot" automatically lubricates the entire chassis! It spells the end of the work, inconvenience, uncertainty and worry usually connected with the lubrication of an automobile.

It is inconceivable that anybody could thinkingly

choose a car without this advanced and easy method of keeping itself in condition—not to mention running the risk of owning, very soon, a car made obsolete by such an improvement in newer models.

Chandler and Cleveland, standing side by side in a great combination of resources, are able to offer a little more of everything for the money. Seeing is believing.

The Handkerchief Scarf Reappears

In Gay or Neutral Tones but Scarfs for the Most Part Are Bright.

There comes a time when it seems desirable to add to one's tailleur either a fur neckpiece or one of the smart looking silk ones. The scarf is now an old familiar friend, but one must admit a very changeable and gay one! It takes no particular stretch of memory to recall the nonchalant of the bandana as it first was introduced at Beauville. After this rather wild west fashion has worn itself out scarfs settled down to a more conservative existence. They completely changed their proportions, becoming long and slender, instead of handkerchief-like in form. And how they did drench themselves in color! Not did but do, for having undergone another revision to original principles and being again square, they continue to be almost blinding in their brightness. Some are most amusing, having human motifs and all sorts of capering animals gamboling over their surface. Others of course are barrenly futuristic and defy all the laws of color governing color schemes and even design. Naturally one must have many scarfs, one for each mood, and one should remember there are quiet moods even in this jazz age. For such there are squares of taffeta or surah, almost Quakerlike in their grayness, some being only decorated with a discreet line border.

Tailored Short Choker Scarf Fashioned of Crepe de Chine and Decorated on Either End With Large Hand-Painted Motifs.

Radium Silk Is the Medium for the Plain Square Worn Rather Unusually.

In white. The smartest way, if one has one of those necktie swan throats is to tie the handkerchief cornerwise tightly around the neck, having one corner cocking up jauntily under the ear, and the rest of the scarf, falling cornerwise about to the waist. It is really far smarter to have one's scarf tightly wound about the throat, these days, this being a compromise on the matter of choker collars.

An Afternoon Dress of Pale Rose Georgette

Showing a charming afternoon dress of pale georgette, panel in front, with wide rose ribbon shirred in rose effect. It also has a smart detachable cape. Large pearl buttons adorn the sleeve.

Wall Paper Designs Are Used to Tint Old Frocks

She wore a charming frock of pale lavender georgette with a border of morning glories in deeper tones of lavender and purple, trimming the full skirt and the blouse.

"Exquisite!" exclaimed her girlfriend, as she removed her coat in the dressing room. "Wherever did you find it?"

"Whisper it softly," returned the admiring one. "It came out of my imagination. You remember the white georgette of last year? You couldn't help remembering it. Everybody must have been tired of it. I conceived the plan of tinting it lavender, and a short time afterwards I passed a silk shop where I discovered so-called wall paper designs. That's the pattern you see transferred on to the dress."

A variety of materials lend themselves to decoration of this type—georgettes, satins, crepes de chine, silks of various kinds, velvets and, best of all, detyrins. The patterns may be transferred on to any color but black and very dark ones. An entire dress may be decorated in a design or a single spray may be used on the shoulder or front of the blouse.

The home decorator also finds these wall paper transfers effective for sofa pillows, table covers, scarfs, curtains and screens.

Milady's Hat Should Fit Closely About Forehead

The framing of the face demands a great deal of thought in these days when the obviously picturesque in millinery is frowned upon and smartness the end to be achieved.

There is much propaganda in favor of the large hat, but the small one has lost none of its prestige and is inevitably the choice for street and general wear.

First, fast, and always, the hat must fit closely about the forehead and conceal most of the hair. But it must make a harmonious line with the rest of the costume. The draped crown of this season allows for greater versatility than we have been accorded in some time.

Many of the newer models are made entirely of silk, preferably faillie. This answers the demand for a hat that is light on the head and soft as to line.

Hats are less severe than during the winter, and the absolutely untrimmed felt is now not the only alternative.

LADY EXPERT COMING TO HELP RUPTURED WOMEN

Demonstrates Rice Method Free to All

A lady expert representing William S. Rice, Adams, N. Y., inventor of the famous Rice (Non-Surgical) Method for Rupture will be at Stuyvesant Hotel, Kingston, N. Y., Saturday, April 10, to demonstrate a new special corset attachment that holds any rupture no matter how large. Even if the abdomen is very fleshy, it holds any rupture with ease, comfort and security.

Every woman who has been compelled to wear an ordinary truss or abdominal support knows the gouging, cutting and chafing caused by narrow bands. The weight of the abdomen or pressure necessary in holding the rupture must be carried by the band around the back, and the pressure is sometimes very great.

Special Combined causing untold suffering. The special, broad supporting corset back distributes the pressure so as to do away with all cutting and chafing.

There are thousands of women who are in perfect misery because they cannot find anything that will hold their rupture and the abdomen at the same time. The appliances usually worn are hot, bulky, chafing and irritating. But this wonderful Combined Corset Back Support is light, flexible, durable and cool and fits the figure like a glove. It gives you a sense of absolute comfort and protection while at the same time greatly improving abdominal outlines.

Trusses in common use are not adapted to women and often do great harm. Women therefore, suffer more and are in greater danger from rupture than men, and all women, who have ruptures or who wear an abdominal support of any kind should not fail to call and see this wonderful Combined Corset Back Support.

No description or illustration can fully convey the remarkable utility of this splendid support. It must be seen; it must be put on to convince any woman that it was designed for her.

This lady expert takes a large woman just as she is, all out of shape and unattractive and by this remarkable Corset Support gives her a natural, neat, trim figure.

She will also give full instructions on how to handle and care for any rupture, large or small. She will show how to hold any kind of rupture from the simple groin and femoral to the large and difficult Naval and other Operations Ruptures, without chafing or squeezing, also how to wear the corset correctly.

Don't let this great opportunity get away from you. Don't continue to suffer the burden of rupture and from wearing when it is so entirely unnecessary. Your call on this Lady Expert is sure to prove one of the best things you ever did. She will be there only one day then your opportunity will be gone. The fitting and demonstration are free. It doesn't cost you a penny to learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity for help it offers in your case. After demonstration you can purchase the Corset required if you wish.

Call any time from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 o'clocks. Just out at the hotel desk for the Rice Representative and she will do the rest.

Hand Pin-Tucking Trim Simpler Models—Intricate Reembroidery Worked on Fil-Tire Ground.

Vienna—A $15,000 trousseau just completed is destined for a foreign heiress and includes veritable marvels of embroidery.

Among the techniques employed for the adornment of the table and bed linen and lingerie sections of the trousseau, its small squares serve frequently as a canvas for all-white over embroidery in Gobelin stitch, in which complicated scenes are developed.

By far the greater part of the linens are of crepe de chine, but there are also batiste sets. Whole tops of crepe de chine chemise or combination dresses are worked about in these very small squares, and the motifs embroidered on this delicate foundation are either finely drawn hatched ornaments and arabesques of flowers, or delicate tracery of flowers or foliage.

These are embroidered on all the ground, the springing out of motifs in the ground material is also a frequent technique and sometimes these motifs are extremely intricate. In their design, among the patterns with which subtle effects are achieved ed, sand-stitch is now very important, and the very fine so-called lace-stitch often marks delicately drawn arabesques. Sometimes Zinner uses extremely fine handmade pin-tucking as sole elaboration for garments.

Besides night gowns lavishly trimmed with real lace or having a whole top of reembroidered fil-tire, a race crepe de chine model looks extremely simple with a yoke section and a chemise front of narrowest hand-made pin tucks. The edging is done with soft material piping.

Chest Not a Factor in Length of Life

The man with the narrow chest is a quarry. Physical culture experts of one school say his chances for long life do not compare with those of a broad-chested man. Those of another declare his chances are equal, and now the insurance company statisticians announce he should live longer than his brethren.

Should he look proud or cringe when his taller shorts "chest, thirty inches," across the room to his assistant? Nobody seems to know.

Dr. Louis I. Dublin, insurance statistician, in an address on "Body Build and Longevity," delivered the other day at Johns Hopkins, declared "as a result of recent investigations the view among physicians of the medical profession, that the broad-chested man is the healthier and is likely to enjoy longer life has been found to be fallacious."

"The man with the narrow chest," he asserted, "whether he be tall or short, fat or thin, stands a better chance than his broad-chested friend of attaining old age."

Frank Lynch, athletic director in New York, agreed with Doctor Dublin. "The man with the big, broad, swelling chest does not necessarily have a large lung capacity," he said. "Often I have noticed while giving lung tests that men who seem to have narrow chests and small lungs have greater capacity than the man with the broad chest."

"The reason for this is that the lungs of the broad-chested man are short and do not reach well down into his body. Those of the narrow-chested man do."

His Name

Kenneth, a six-year-old son of a Speedway city family, reported a real estate deal recently that was novel to Speedway history. The youngster, who is a regular attendant at Speedway school, was unfortunate enough to pick a fellow pupil into a mud puddle. His companion told Kenneth of the sure punishment awaiting him on arrival at the schoolhouse, with the result that the youngster remained away from school that afternoon.

His absence being reported to his mother, she questioned him about it. "What, mother," he replied, "didn't you know that the school has been sold?"—Indianapolis News.

Report Income From All Sources

Recent changes by the New York legislature do not modify the requirement that residents are required to include in their income tax returns their earnings from all sources.

"In other words," said District Director John J. Malone, of the Albany office of the State Income Tax Bureau, "the New York law has no provision paralleling the Federal Revenue Act as to nontaxable character of certain income. Residents as in the past must include their income from all sources whether it be from speculation in Florida real estate or from rising stock market. Conversely, they are allowed losses from business, from transactions entered into from profit or from any casualty."

"We urge in every possible way that taxpayers seeking assistance should call on Auditor B. Piser, who is at the county clerk's office in Kingston until April 10. The American public cannot, it seems, be cured of a deeply rooted habit of procrastination in tax matters. Those who want to get the benefit of a long interview with an auditor who is now more patient than he can possibly be during the final rush period are requested to seek his aid at this time."

Develop Better Oat Varieties

Crop Has Been Materially Increased in West in the Last Decade.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

The oat crop of Iowa and Illinois and some other Corn Belt states has been increased materially in the last decade by the use of several new high-yielding varieties developed by the Iowa state experiment station in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. Four of the new varieties are discussed in Department Bulletin 1343, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The four varieties are Albion (Iowa No. 103), Richland (Iowa No. 106), Ioway, and Iogren. Albion was developed from a single plant selected from Kherson in 1906. Owing to the demand for an early variety with white kernels even though Albion did not show superiority in yield to Kherson, its distribution was begun in 1913. The variety immediately became popular, and it was estimated that nearly 1,500,000 acres were grown in the Corn Belt in 1919, while in 1924 almost this acreage was grown in Iowa alone.

Richland for Rich Soils.

Richland, an early yellow oat, is a companion strain of Albion and has about the same history. It was selected from Kherson in 1906, primarily because of its short, stiff straw. It was first distributed in 1914. In yielding power it is superior to both Kherson and Albion, and because of its short straw it is especially recommended for growing on rich soils where taller varieties frequently cause partial loss of the crop by lodging.

Ioway was selected in 1911 from Kherson and differs from Albion in having a taller culm and in being a little later to maturity. It is superior in yielding power to Kherson and Albion. It was first distributed in 1919. Ioway is the most promising of the three early varieties here discussed and already has attained a wide distribution in Iowa and adjoining states. The variety probably will replace Albion to a considerable extent because of its higher yielding ability and its taller straw.

Iogren is High Yielder.

Iogren, a selection from Green Russian, was increased from an original plant selected made in 1910. The variety was first distributed to farmers in 1922. Iogren has been markedly superior in yield to the parent, Green Russian, and it is believed will ultimately largely replace that variety in northern Iowa. Of all the varieties grown in the experiments at Ames, Iogren has been the highest yielder.

Albion, Richland and Ioway have been most promising in states other than Iowa in those sections where the parent sorts, Kherson and Sixty-Day have been the leading varieties. Since in such areas the conditions usually slightly outyield the parent varieties, they may probably be substituted where Kherson or Sixty-Day is grown. A copy of the bulletin may be obtained as long as the supply lasts by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Soy Beans Satisfactory for Egg-Producing Hens

Soy beans proved a satisfactory substitute for meat scraps for laying hens at the Missouri experiment station. The basal mash consisted of equal parts of bran, shorts and corn meal. To this was added 20 per cent soy-bean meal and 5 per cent mineral, the remaining 65 per cent consisting of the original mash. The results of a two-year period have been very satisfactory.

When soy beans are used in the poultry mash, the mineral supplement is very essential. In pens where no mineral was used, the production was only 70 eggs per hen per year. The mineral is not expensive, being composed of one pound of salt and four pounds of ground limestone. All pens had access to water and grit.

Because the soy beans are lower in protein content than meat scraps, it is considered necessary to substitute one and a half pounds of soy-bean meal for each one pound of meat scraps.

The substitution also saves on the feed bill when the birds are fed.

Give your pipe a chance!

SOME pipes were "born with two strikes on 'em." Just never had a chance to offer their best. You can judge your pipe only by the tobacco you put in it. If you haven't smoked P. A., your pipe hasn't had its chance. To those men who know the keenest pipe-enjoyment, Prince Albert stands out like a beacon of cheer on a moonless night.

Prince Albert has put pipes into the mouths of more men than any other tobacco that ever came down the pike . . . and has kept them there! Because no other tobacco is like P. A. Cool and fragrant as mountain air murmuring through the pines. Sweet as the breath of spring.

P. A. won't bite your tongue or parch your throat, because the Prince Albert process cut out bite and parch right at the outset of P. A.'s brilliant career. This means that you can hit it up with your jimmy-pipe and P. A. from the minute breakfast is over until you nestle down between the sheets at night. You not only can, but will!

If you're looking for proof, you needn't search beyond the nearest shop where they hand out smoke-gladdening red tins marked "Prince Albert." Give your pipe a chance. Pack it with P. A. and light up. That first wonderful pull will tell you P. A. was simply made-to-order for you!

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in dry cell tins, round and half-round tins, and in pouches, and in every kind of tin and pouch. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

The Machinery of Death

The modern method of hanging prepared for Gerald Chapman is illustrated in this artist's sketch, drawn from a description by persons who had examined the mechanism. The warden (on left) steps on a treadle, which releases a spring, dropping a 300-pound weight and jerking the condemned man to the ceiling, from which he drops, making certain the neck is broken.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Of course it was too good to last, so last night added to fading, blanketing and static were two outbreaks of chattering local interference and a fine lot of blooping.

Even at that one could pick up a good program from WJZ, WEA, WGY, WEAR, WOC, WLW or WYCN except while the chattering was going on.

"I'd like to see some shirts for my husband—soft ones, please—the doctor has forbidden anything starched."

CHAIRS NEEDED AT INDUSTRIAL HOME

It is not often that an appeal comes direct from the Industrial Home for assistance of any kind. Now, however, there is a need at the home which some generous friends may be able to supply directly if they know about it. A comfortable rocking chair and a few other comfortable chairs, not upholstered, are badly needed. Just how great such a need is at the end of a day devoted to the care of many—not just one or two—little folks, all lively and active, only tired mothers and fathers can perhaps fully appreciate. They surely will, so it is hoped that this appeal will be met from some homes in this city in a very short time.

Blessed are the poor in pocket. Their scandals—if they have any—attract little attention.

B'way Crossing For Trolley Cars

Attorney F. C. Merritt Calls Attention to Fact That People Were Complaining of Lost Time Caused By Trolley Using Colonial Subway.

Attorney F. C. Merritt appeared before the common council Tuesday evening and spoke in favor of the rescinding of the Daylight Saving ordinance, and urged that when the public hearing was held next Tuesday that the merchants of the city be invited to attend to "show their colors" in the matter.

Attorney Merritt also called attention to the fact that he had received a number of complaints regarding the running time of the trolley cars on Broadway. He said he had investigated the matter thoroughly and had found that when the cars used the Broadway crossing they had lost on an average of forty minutes a day by delays caused by trains using the crossing. Since using the Colonial subway, however, the running time lost amounted to 15 minutes and upwards.

He suggested that the common council grant temporary permission to the trolley road to use the crossing instead of the tunnel. He said that the only way time could be saved by using the tunnel would be for the trolley company to re-locate three of its switches, the St. Mary's switch, the American cigar company switch and the St. James street switch. This would cost $15,000. He said the trolley road was willing to do that as soon as possible.

Major Block wanted to know where the trolley company was to obtain $15,000 as it complained now it could not pay for its share of the cost of repaving the streets through which the abandoned Colonial Division had operated and wanted to give the city notes for its share of the cost.

Attorney Merritt said that the council could grant permission with a string to it. They could grant the concession by limiting the time for re-locating the switches mentioned within a reasonable time.

The suggestion of Attorney Merritt was referred to the railroad committee.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

Zoning Board Adopts Seal

Official Seal Commemorates Three Important Dates in City's History—Board Decides Kittle Must Perfect Appeal Before Being Heard.

The Zoning Board of Appeals met in regular session at the common council chamber on Tuesday afternoon. An application was made by Mark Sampson appearing for E. I. Kittle, who was refused permission by the board of public works to construct a garage on the south side of St. James street adjoining the Kingston foundry. Mr. Reynard of the board of public works appeared and stated that board had no objection to the granting of Kittle's application but felt that it had no power to do so. It turned out, however, that Kittle never had appealed from the refusal of the board of public works, and had not given notice of his application for the reversal of its order by the Zoning Board of Appeals. He was told to perfect his appeal and apply at the May session of the board. Judge Clearwater, president of the board, to whom had been referred the selection of a seal for the board, reported the following device: A circular seal two inches in diameter with a legend "Zoning Board of Appeals, City of Kingston, N. Y." Within the circle the following dates:

1872

The first is the date of the establishment by the Dutch West India Company of their fort at Rondout (Ponckhockie), the second the date of the incorporation of the village of Kingston, the third the date of the incorporation of Kingston as a city. The seal makes a handsome and imposing impression.

DAIRY FACTS

HOME-GROWN FEEDS
ARE THE CHEAPEST

Corn and oats, both home grown feeds are still the cheapest source of digestible nutrients and should be used as extensively as possible in the dairy ration this winter. It is pointed out by C. S. Rhode, University of Illinois. Unfortunately, these two feeds do not put enough protein into the ration, unless the roughage that is being fed is good legume hay only and consequently it is necessary in most cases to buy some feed that is high in protein to supplement the corn and oats. At present prices gluten meal and cottonseed meal are the two cheapest feeds for this purpose.

When silage and legume hays are being fed as roughage a good grain mixture can be made of 500 pounds of ground corn 250 pounds of ground oats and 100 pounds of ground soy beans. Another good grain mixture for use with silage and legume hays can be made from 500 pounds of ground corn 500 pounds of ground oats 50 pounds of cottonseed meal and 50 pounds of gluten meal. Both of these grain mixtures should be fed at the rate of 2 1/2 pounds for each gallon of milk produced.

When no legumes are being fed, the grain mixture should be made of 100 pounds each of gluten meal, ground corn, ground oats and linseed oil meal. Another good grain mixture to use when no legumes are being fed can be made from 100 pounds each of ground corn, wheat bran and linseed oil meal and 50 pounds of cottonseed meal. These two should be fed at the rate of 2 1/2 to 3 pounds of grain for each gallon of milk produced.

When legume hays supply all the roughages, the grain mixture can be limited to 100 pounds of ground corn and 100 pounds of ground oats. A second grain mixture that can be used when legume hays supply all the roughages can be made from 500 pounds of ground corn, 500 pounds of ground oats and 100 pounds of linseed oil meal. These two grain mixtures should be fed at the rate of 3 to 3 1/2 pounds for each gallon of milk produced.

Corn Silage Found Best Substitute for Pasture

Pasture grass is the ideal dairy ration because of its succulent and appetizing qualities. In Northern states the short pasture season makes it necessary to provide a substitute. Experiments at the Indiana station show very definitely that corn silage is the best substitute available.

A ration containing a moderate amount of silage was compared with one containing no silage, but double the ordinary amount of hay. When silage was withheld, milk production decreased markedly and the milk and fat costs were considerably increased. The most economical production occurred when silage made up part of the ration. Body weights were more uniformly maintained when silage formed a part of the feed.

Those interested in a more detailed account of this experiment may obtain it from the Purdue experiment station, Lafayette, Ind., by asking for bulletin No. 207.

Feed Value of Pumpkins

Pumpkins have some feed value for milk production, and should be fed when there is no market for them. They are of about the same feed value as flat turnips. There is an old tradition that they tend to dry cows up when fed in large amounts. It is considered advisable to remove the seeds when they are fed in any considerable amount, as there is probably more danger of trouble being in the seed than the other parts.

Dehorning Young Calves

When calves are a few days old clip the hair from the buttons where the horns start. This can be done with an ordinary pair of scissors. Secure a stick of caustic potash at the drug store and with it rub the buttons of the horns until the spot becomes quite red but the rubbing should be stopped before the blood will run from the button. The end of the caustic potash should be inserted in some water before the application is made.

Dairy Notes

A good dairy barn slogan is "Feed them grain even if they are dry."

In no way can the bills of our dairy farmers be reduced for purchased feed unless we grow it as through for their income in the average of all the years they crop.

The cost of feeding a dairy cow is now about 25 per cent below a year ago, according to rural economists at the Ohio State university.

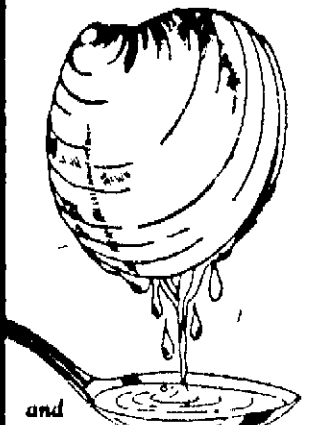

In all dairy work, the cost of production may be reduced by the most efficient use and handling of the equipment.

During the extreme cold weather so that the cows and horses have an abundance of bedding—straw to keep them comfortable and clean. Covered cows make better milk.

Pirate Veterans Out of Line-up

Carey, Traynor and Moore May Not Start For Champions Next Week—Meet NINE Opponents in Opening Games.

By Davis J. Walsh

New York, April 7.—With just six days remaining before the Major League field is under the gun and ready to go, the good word today on the World's Champion Pittsburgh Pirates seemed to be rather bad. The club is flat-wheeling along with three veterans out of the lineup and even professional optimists among the accompanying newspaper men concede that its chance of getting away running on April 13 are no brighter than the visibility of the average arm pit.

Max Carey, the most valuable single unit on the ball club, has been ill since the team headed west for California, and "probably will not start the season. Two days ago, "Pie" Traynor, not worse than third in general value to the club, was limping so badly that they took him right out of there during a game with Indianapolis. Eddie Moore, like Traynor, has a bad ankle and has been sitting on the bench watching Hal Rhyme play second base.

This might be worse, at that Rhyme seems to be quite a young man. However, his development appears to be one of few causes for immediate optimism in the Pirate camp. Even the weather conspired against the club on its first trip east to Hot Springs and not even a practice game was played for a week.

Rhyme is likely to start the season at second base with Paul Wagner, the other Coast Leaguer, in left field, Cuyler in centre and Barabart in right. If Traynor isn't able to go, Rhyme probably will be shifted over to third base and Johnny Rawlings placed at second.

This lineup may win it being an axiom that one never can call the turn in baseball. But it doesn't figure as a good bet for a part of a campaign where the Pirates are supposed to need every possible game to stand off the Glants and Cardinals.

Speaking of the latter brings to mind the fact that the Pirates' early going is not to be eased along on pneumatic tires, anyhow. They are to open with a four game series with the Cards in St. Louis, move over to Cincinnati for four with the Reds, another strong contender, and come back to Pittsburgh for another series with the Cards. In all, the Pirates will play only six games at home in April.

They didn't look like a good spring club last year, either. They were last as late as the second week in May and really showed nothing in particular until well into June, when they moved into second place behind the Glants. They were in first place by July 4, lost it for a single day in August and then front-ran the Glants to the wire.

If their present misfortunes mean what they indicate, the Pirates may have to uncover all the fortitude they showed in the late stages of the 1925 race, plus their amazing games in the world series, to top the field again.

Industrial Games At Athletic Field

The Industrial Baseball League of this city will play baseball on the Athletic Field again this season, having voted so at a meeting of the managers Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. It was decided that these grounds were the most convenient for all concerned.

The league will be run on a larger basis, having eight teams. The teams will also be allowed to strengthen their roster by using players from outside of the factory or office, which it represents.

The industries which have entered teams are: West Shore Railroad, winner of the first cup last year; Kingston Gas & Electric, runner up in the league last season; Schillings Universal, U. & D. R. R. Jacobson's Artistic, K. & M. Silk Mills.

It has not been decided when the league will start, but everybody is working hard to get going as soon as possible.

McGraw 53 Years Old.

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—Beaten again by the Senators, 7 to 5, in ten innings yesterday, the Glants were ready today to bring Jimmy Ring out from the duckout to try for an even break with the American League Champions. The latter now holds a three to two lead in the series. The Glants were especially anxious to win by way of celebrating John McGraw's birthday. He is fifty-three years old today.

Eighth Straight For Yanks.

Asheville, N. C., April 7.—Having seen Babe Ruth emerge from his batting slump with a double and triple yesterday, Asheville planned to come back for more this afternoon in the hope of seeing the slugger get a home run against the Dodgers' pitchers. The latter were mauled again yesterday, the Yanks scoring their eighth straight over the National Leaguers, 16 to 3.

Editor Mencken Is Exonerated

Editor Mencken has been ordered off newstands in several New England states because of the Watch and Ward Society and the W. C. T. U. claims that it was indecent.

Solely for the purpose of making a test case, Mencken secured a city pedlar and hawked his license from city hall and armed with this went to "Brimstone Corner," one of the busiest spots in the city, under the shadow of several ancient churches and offered the magazine for sale. Agent Chase, accompanied by a policeman, purchased a copy and then ordered the editor's arrest.

After the decision in his favor, Mencken was given permission by the court to make a transcript of it for dissemination among other magazine publishers.

NECESSARY STREET REPAIR WORK STARTED BY CITY

Work has been started on the repairs to the street at the corner of Broadway and Thomas street where last fall the trolley company removed the rails when the Colonial division was abandoned. This stretch on one of the main thoroughfares of the city has been in very bad condition for the past several months. An agreement recently reached between the city and the trolley company in regard to repairing the streets damaged by the trolley company will result in several repair jobs being done.

Abandon Plan for Dry Referendum

Boyle Will Not Attempt To Press Amendment, Which Originated With Canon Chase—Jenks Considers His Bill Will Pass.

Albany, N. Y., April 7.—Prohibition advocates at the Capitol today abandoned their plans for a "dry" referendum.

Assemblyman Boyle, Republican of Suffolk, who yesterday agreed to offer an amendment to the Jenks State Wide Dry Enforcement Bill, to provide that the measure should not take effect unless approved by the voters in a referendum this fall, announced today he would not press his proposal.

After studying the proposal, Boyle said today he was convinced that it would be unconstitutional and for that reason would not attempt to amend the Jenks Bill.

The amendment which Boyle had planned to offer from the Assembly floor today originated with Canon William S. Chase of Brooklyn, head of the New York State Civic League.

Chase Ordered From Floor Canon Chase was ordered from the floor of the lower house yesterday after he brought his dry referendum proposal to the Capitol. The charge that Canon Chase was lobbying on the floor of the house was made by Assemblyman Culliver, arch foe of prohibition.

Next Monday night is expected to see a long drawn out fight between the wets and the drys in the Assembly, and possibly in the Senate. The Jenks Enforcement Bill is expected to come up for final action at that time, and the wets are confident they will be able to defeat it.

Bringing Fight To a Head.

Assemblyman Bloch, the Democratic leader of the house, had served notice on the Republicans that if they do not report out the "Jenks" Resolution, proposing a referendum asking congress to modify the Volstead Law, he would move on Monday night to discharge the rules committee. This would bring the referendum fight to a head, and while the Republicans have virtually agreed to pass their referendum they probably would defeat the Democratic proposal.

Assemblyman Jenks, Republican of Broome and sponsor of the dry enforcement bill, has not given up hope of getting his measure through the assembly. He said today: "The wets have been doing a lot of talking about the number of votes they will roll up against my bill but maybe it is all talk. I feel certain my bill will be passed in the Assembly."

With final adjournment of the legislature not more than two weeks away, the all absorbing topic at the Capitol is prohibition.

Witnesses for "Candy Kid" Trial

Eight Reputable Witnesses Will Testify That "Candy Kid" Bandit Was Not in Buffalo on Date of Double Murder.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 7.—A motion for a change of venue is likely to be the first move of counsel for Richard Reese Whittemore, "Candy Kid" bandit whose trial is to be begun here in a few days on a charge of murder in killing of two Bank of Buffalo messengers last fall.

Eight reputable witnesses, two of them trustees of a Methodist Church, will testify that neither Whittemore nor Leon Kraemer was in Buffalo the day of the robbery according to W. Bartlett Sumner, defense attorney who has been to New York City to prove an alibi for the prisoner.

Whittemore's witnesses, it is understood, will testify that Whittemore and Kraemer were not within 500 miles of Buffalo on the date of the local bank robbery and double murder. Probably anticipating application for a change of venue would be granted, Whittemore through his attorney, sent the following message to the people of Buffalo:

"I may not be an angel, but I wish the people of Buffalo to know neither myself nor my pals had anything to do with the Bank of Buffalo hold-up. I ask that Buffalo retain its reputation for fair play and justice and see that my trial, if it is held in this city, is impartial and free from prejudice. If I am given such a trial, I am sure I will be acquitted."

CRIME BILL ARE HAVING HARD SLEDDING

Albany, April 7.—Some of the 22 bills recommended by the Baumer Crime Commission and designed to curb crime in the state, are having hard sledding in the lower house of the legislature.

The first of these anti-crime bills to be defeated in the assembly was rejected by an overwhelming vote of 114 to 27. It would have removed the provision in the law which throws the presumption of innocence around a defendant who refuses to testify at his own trial.

Republicans and Democrats joined hands in defeating this bill in the assembly after it had been passed by the senate. It was charged that this might be the means of excluding many innocent persons.

About a dozen of the anti-crime measures have been passed and indications are that virtually all those remaining to be acted upon will finally be approved.

Legion Campaign For Membership

Kingston Post, No. 130, American Legion, Falls in Line With Headquarters' Request to Bring All Eligible Legionnaires Into Active Membership.

A number of World War veterans assembled at the American Legion Home on West O'Reilly street Tuesday evening to learn the cause of the mysterious order of mobilization sent forth asking that all members of the Legion and as many other veterans as could, assemble in special meeting on Tuesday evening, the ninth anniversary of the declaration of war with Germany.

However, early Tuesday evening the mysterious order was explained when state headquarters sent out for publication the reason for the order, a campaign to enlist members in the American Legion throughout the state.

When the meeting of Kingston Post No. 130, American Legion was called to order by Commander Eugene P. Carey, the meeting room was comfortably filled. Lightning Fires
Oil Tank Farm

Largest Oil Tank Farm in The World Is in Flames—25 Reservoirs Are in Danger—2 Million Barrels at Risk.

Obispo, Cal., April 7.—
The largest oil tank farm in the world, the property of the Union Oil Company of California, was in flames today, following the almost simultaneous explosion of four huge tanks of oil each containing 750,000 barrels of oil.

Lightning struck one of the tanks, causing it to explode and the three others immediately exploded.

Fire followed the explosion and fifteen tanks containing 1,200,000 barrels of oil are endangered. Further explosions are feared.

The explosion shattered windows in San Luis Obispo and the neighboring town of Edna, damaged six farm houses adjacent to the tank farm and destroyed four small buildings at the tank farm.

So far as had been ascertained but one person is injured. Theodore Mimille, a farm lad, aged 15, was badly cut and bruised.

All available members of the American Legion in San Luis Obispo county have been called out to assist in fighting the flames.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company is rushing assistance from Los Angeles and San Francisco and other points.

All roads have been closed in the vicinity of the farm and members of the American Legion are guarding them.

The greater part of the tanks are underground and the farm is regarded as a model in construction.

The Union Oil Company has probably the most efficient fire fighting system and force at the tank farm that exists. It was stated.

San Francisco, April 7.—Damage estimated by Union Oil Company officials at more than $2,000,000 had been done up to noon by lightning which set fire to four of the company's reservoirs containing 2,500,- 000 gallons of oil near San Luis Obispo.

Of the four reservoirs on fire, one contains 1,000,000 gallons while the other two hold 750,000 gallons each. Twenty-five other reservoirs on the property are in danger, company officials said.

British Steamer Undamaged.
Norfolk, Va., April 7.—The British freight steamer Haggergate, bound from Constantinople to Baltimore, which went ashore at Cape Henry last night, was floated at high tide this morning. The vessel apparently was undamaged.

Financial
and Commercial
New York, April 7.—Industrial stock prices moved through a narrow range today in an inactive and highly professional market. Exploitation of industrial and railroad stocks was hardly possible in view of the mixed trend of business reports in the "in between season," and the professionals accordingly turned their attention to the public utility stocks which have figured in the latest important merger under the leadership of Standard Gas & Electric Company.
A distinctly easier condition was reported in the money market, with call loan renewals at 4 per cent and call loans against acceptances at 3 1/2 per cent. Bankers look for a continuation of this easier trend until the end of the summer.
New high records for production and shipment of motor cars as announced by leading manufacturers stimulated buying of the motor stocks, with Willys Overland common the most active in this group.
General Motors and Hudson reached higher price levels in the early trading, but declined on profit-taking and bearish selling later in the session.
Attempts to attract a speculative following in the railroad stocks were not successful, and, after marking up prices a point or two in the "merger" stocks, the professionals abandoned this section of the market and resumed short selling of the industrials. Heavy offerings of United States Steel, the equipment stocks, the coppers, oils and finally the motors resulted in a general decline in prices, but rarely exceeding two or three points.
The mercantile stocks and the independent steels, including Vanadium and Crucible, forged ahead in this reactionary period. Southwestern rails retained most of their new gains and dividend stocks of the eastern roads also showed the effects of permanent investment buying as contrasted with the speculative "churning around" of the industrial shares. Commodity markets were steady.

Sunday Vaudeville For Hospital Fund

A varied and pleasing entertainment for the benefit of the hospital fund has been arranged by the Loyal Friends' Aid Society of Kingston to take place at the Orpheum Theatre Sunday night at eight o'clock. A feature picture and news reel as well as a large number of vaudeville acts will comprise the program.

Among the acts is included a dancing specialty by Vincent Van Bramer and Miss Helen Cashin of Kingston, entitled, "Flying Feet." Both are well known dancers in this section and they gave a very entertaining performance at the Benedictine ball Monday night. They will dance the tango, the Charleston and the pony trot.

Other numbers on the program include singing by Mrs. Helen Stern Mann, popular Kingston soprano, who will be accompanied by Miss Ruby Markson; a singing and dancing specialty by Elaine Lehr and Gertrude Jacobson, juvenile performers; and a musical number by "Ala" Lopez and orchestra. The committee in charge is endeavoring to add several more numbers to the program in order to assure a full evening's entertainment.

Through the courtesy of Mr.
Sherry, owner of the Orpheum Theatre, the regular orchestra will provide music throughout, and the entire Orpheum equipment will be given to the use of the society free of charge. The use of the theatre itself is also being donated by Mr.
Sherry to enable the entire proceeds of the entertainment to go to the local hospital fund. A feature movie attraction has been secured by the Orpheum owner and will be given without cost to the organization.

"Warble Fly" Expensive Bug to Cattle Breeder
American farmers pay $50,000,000 each year in beef, milk and hides because of the "warble fly," according to the United States Department of Agriculture educational film "The Ox Warble—a Fifty-Million Dollar Tune."
The warble as an adult is an innocent-looking fly which alights on the legs of cattle and lays its eggs. The microscopic grubs that hatch from the eggs burrow through the hide and work their way to the animal's gullet and thence to the back, where they become full sized. They perforate the hide and drop to the ground to go through certain changes of form, then emerge as adult flies and begin the cycle all over again.

Often as many as 200 grub holes will be found in a single hide, and the total damage to hides alone is tremendous. The presence of the grubs also causes the animals to lose weight and keep down milk production.

Actual photographs and animated drawings trace the life history of the insect, and methods of controlling the pest are emphasized in the Department of Agriculture film.

The Eternal Search
"Oh, dear me," sighed Mrs. Hight-Flight, "these creditulists are simply too annoying. Just after I had researched, and located an ancestor who would admit me to membership with the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the American Revolution, and was relying secure in the belief that the status of my pedigree was settled once and for all, up comes these evolutionists with their far-fetched notions of Substrata. I hear that a very exclusive Tri-Admire Ancestral society is being organized, and before one can break into it one must trace one's pedigree right back to the primordial primordial atomic globule. More research, more research. If only those creditulists had kept quiet!"—B. E.
P. in Kansas City Star.

Robert Moore On Health Board

Mayor Morris Block filed the re-appointment of Dr. Frederick Huhne and the appointment of Robert Moore of 632 Broadway as members of the board of health with the common council Tuesday evening. The appointments were confirmed by the council.

Mr. Moore is treasurer and manager of the H. W. Palen's Sons' plant on Broadway. He succeeded Charles L. McBride, the druggist, whose term had expired. Mr. McBride has been a member of the board of health for many years and was always one of the most efficient and active members of that board.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS IN FOREST RECREATION

In discussing "Forest Recreation," Herbert F. Prescott, secretary to the State Conservation Commission, says: "To persons of moderate means, the state's forest preserve offers opportunities for healthful recreation that are possible only through the conservation of our remaining forested areas," says Herbert F. Prescott, secretary to the State Conservation Commission.

"The people of New York have written into the fundamental law of the state the provision that the forest preserve shall be forever kept as wild forest land. This means that an area larger than any of the great National parks and more than twice as large as the State of Rhode Island is reserved for the free use of the public for all time as a health and pleasure resort where simple life in the open with hunting, fishing, camping and hiking may be enjoyed by every one."

"The automobile and a fine system of highways bring within easy traveling distance of the cities hundreds of lakes, ponds and mountain streams; and cleared trails which supplement the highway system in the forest open the way to mountain tops and the more remote parts of the woods. Free public camp sites with stone fireplaces and pure spring water are maintained at points notable for their scenic surroundings or for their fishing and hunting attractions."

"With the rapidly increasing concentration of the population in cities and the consequent demands of urban life upon physical, nervous and mental energy there is a growing need of periodic relaxation to maintain a proper standard of health. In no way can this be achieved better than by a few weeks of simple living amid natural surroundings such as are to be found in the great woods; the rise at dawn, camp coffee and bacon, the day in the open; on the stream through the woods, up the mountain trail or wherever the spirit moves you, the evening camp fire and a pair of smoke-scented blankets at the end of the day."

Change of Venue Wise "Where is Germaine going?" asked Toofus of his friend, Willow Plume. "To Montreal." "For what?" "To have her voice tried." "Well, she is wise not to face a home jury," Toofus said.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ORCHARD GLANINGS

SOIL TREATMENT BEFORE PLANTING

A common problem at planting time is the treatment the land should have before the trees are planted. This, of course, will depend upon its previous treatment, says J. H. Gourley, chief in horticulture at the Ohio Experiment station. If it has been in sod for a period of time, it is usually wise to plow the land and plant a tilled crop (such as potatoes, or corn) one year before it is set out to trees, or better yet, to grow and turn under a green crop, as clover or alfalfa. If such a crop can be established in a short time. If this is not feasible it would certainly be well to plow the land the fall previous to planting and let it lie in the rough over winter, unless the topography is such that the soil would wash badly from this procedure. All this is to give the trees the best possible start, or as one old horticulturist said, to "make the hole for the tree as big as the orchard." When the soil is prepared it is then ready to be staked out for setting the trees in some systematic fashion. A common error is to plant the trees too close together, a mistake which presents an almost insoluble problem a few years later. Standard fruits should be set about the following distances, depending somewhat upon the soil and variety:

Apple	16-40 ft.
Pear	20-30 ft.
Quince	12-14 ft.
Peach	20-25 ft.
Plum	15-20 ft.
Cherry	18-25 ft.

The trees may be planted in any of the following systems of arrangement: the square, rectangle, quincunx or hexagonal system. In the square system the trees are spaced in rows, equidistant in both directions. A "filler" tree may be set between the permanent trees and one in the middle of the square, until they begin to crowd, which would place the trees 20 by 20 feet apart or 108 trees per acre. Instead of 27 as would be the case if the trees stood 40 feet apart.

In the quincunx plan the trees are set as for the square system, with a tree in the middle of the square. The hexagonal plan calls for the setting of the trees equidistant from one another in all directions, or one in each angle of equilateral triangles. Fifteen per cent more trees can be set to an acre with this system than with the "square" plan when the trees are set at the same distance apart. In an orchard so set, it is, however, not so easy to cultivate and care for the trees as in the more open squares.

The variety question is one that is so intimately associated with the personal tastes and preferences of the individual that it is difficult to offer advice. Many fine varieties of all the fruits are available but space does not permit listing them. It is safe to say, however, that novelties should not be planted without advising with a competent horticultural authority.

Avoid Wormy Peaches by Attention to Spraying

Why raise wormy peaches when you can have good sound fruit by giving a little attention to spraying? It is just about time for the first fruit spray on peaches. This should be applied just as the last of the blossom petals are falling.

If you want to apply a liquid spray, use one pound of arsenate of lead and three pounds hydrated lime to 50 gallons of water. Dust is easier to apply and is just about as effective as liquid. Use the following dust mixture: Superfine flowers of sulphur, 80 pounds; hydrated lime, 15 pounds; arsenate of lead, 5 pounds.

Keep Trees Strong and Vigorous at All Times

Only the experienced orchardist can realize the value of a strong, vigorous tree, for weakness is manifest in subtle ways that often lead to misinterpretation. The peach grower knows that it is the weak tree that is attacked by the fruit bark beetle or pin-hole borer, and the apple orchardist has seen how trees that are not up to normal are much more seriously injured by spray burn, a severe drought, or other untoward conditions. This is an observation that should be brought to the attention of the beginner and he will not be so ready to neglect his fertilizer application or spray because the trees are not carrying a crop. Hence it should be our aim to keep the trees young by whatever sound practice is available for our use.

Treating Peach Borers

If you failed to use the paraffin-benzene treatment for peach borers last fall you should use it this spring. However, the results from spring treatment are not as good as those from fall treatment, according to experiments conducted in Georgia by the United States Department of Agriculture. The power results from spring treatment are probably due to the larger size of the larvae at that time and to the fact that the borers are not so deep in the trees.
